

TALK KPU to host Compelling Conversations Presentation by KPU Chancellor Kim Baird free for members

TALK KPU will be hosting a special presentation by KPU Chancellor and former elected Chief of the Tsawwassen First Nation Kim Baird on the past and present struggles of Indigenous peoples in Canada. The presentation, Compelling Conversations, will take place at the KPU Surrey campus, Cedar Building, Room 1205A and also over Zoom on Monday, November 7th from 7pm to 8:30pm, and attendance is free for all TALK members. Registration can be completed online for both the in-person version and the Zoom version where regular TALK course registration can be found.

Those attending the in-person version are asked to note that an all-day parking pass can be purchased at the campus for $5.

Kim Baird is a celebrated member of the community and was recently one of the recipients of the 2022 British Columbia Reconciliation Award. Kim has also received the honor of being awarded both the titles of Member of the Order of Canada and Member of the Order of British Columbia for her incredible accomplishments in leadership, which she has carried into her role as KPU Chancellor. In this presentation, Kim will discuss potential ways forward for governments, First Nations, and also individuals in light of an exclusionary history and hundreds of years of struggle by Indigenous peoples for self-governance and reconciliation. Kim's experience and knowledge promise to make this presentation fascinating and unmissable.
